From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Sam's Hens Wear Spectacles!

Yes, it's a fact! Sam's brood of two dozen hens are wearing spectacles—which he bought from a mail-order house in Capitol City.

Sam says it works (and big poultry raisers say so, too). The hens see each other through soft colored glasses, and instead of fighting and picking at each other, they go around placidly, gain weight, and lay more eggs.

Makes me almost wish we could have rose-colored glasses for human beings, too. So that instead of quarreling and criticizing, like we do so much of the time, we'd live and let live in contentment.

From where I sit, the human race wastes a powerful lot of time in wrangling over minor issues . . . whether a man should drink beer or cider . . . whether a woman should wear slacks or skirts . . . instead of seeing each other through "spectacles" of tolerance that enable us to live-and-let-live like Sam's brood of chickens.

High School Chatter . . .

Hello, everyone!

Did anyone go to a wedding on Saturday night? Well, I reckon so. (As Roger would say). We would like to wish Alton and Elaine the best of luck as they establish their new home.

The Common Glory posters were judged Monday. The winners:

First, Helen Mae Foe
Second, Beulah White
Third, Henry Jones
Fourth, Sonny Martin.
Congratulations to these four.

We have been very fortunate to have at our school for the past few days, Miss Faulkner, from the Virginia State Department of Health, who has been talking to the Physical Ed. girls.

The Home Economics class and the Home Economics Club held an all-day group meeting with neighboring Home Economics classes in the high school auditorium Wednesday. From what we hear, it was a successful meeting.

Rumor has it that rehearsals for Senior Play begin next week.

Well, rumors certainly are flying this week, for we have heard that the men of the faculty are sponsoring the Canteen Party this Friday. This we have got to see! Incidentally, this is to be the last Canteen party of the year, because of the Senior activities and various other activities that will be going on toward the end of the school year.

So long, until next week.

Agent Explains Blue Mold Treatment

By R. B. Hudgins, County Agent

Blue Mold is a serious plant bed problem throughout the tobacco area. This plant disease is spreading rapidly in counties south of us and it is now noticeable in several plant beds in this county. Tobacco growers who do not use blue mold control treatment often lose from one-half to nearly all their plants. Besides, the growth of the plant may be slowed up and transplanting delayed from two to six weeks.

With tobacco acreage so drastically reduced, it is more important than ever that tobacco growers take every precaution to insure themselves of strong healthy plants for a good stand at the beginning of the transplanting season.

Properly applied before the blue mold strikes the plant bed, Fermate will control blue mold.

Directions for spraying: two and one-half to three pounds of Fermate is enough to treat 100 square yards for the season. When the plants are small, 2 2/3 to 3 gallons of spray for each application is sufficient to cover 100 square yards of plant bed. For larger plants, 7 or 8 gallons may be needed.

The spray is prepared by mixing the Fermate powder in water at the rate of 3 level tablespoonfuls (1-3 ounce) to each gallon of water. Only enough material for one applicatio nshould be made up at each spraying. Add the powder to a quart fruit jar and fill it half full of water, place the lid on tightly and shake until the Fermate and water are thoroughly mixed. Then pour this mixture into the proper amount of water, and keep thoroughly stirred while spraying.

A bucket type, or wheelbarrow sprayer is best; however a small, a small 3-gallon compressed air sprayer may be satisfactory for small beds. Keep the spray nozzle 1 to 2 feet above the plants and move it back and forth until black droplets appear on all the leaves. Small plants may be sprayed through the plant bed cover if a high pressure barrel pump is used; and cover is stretched at least six inches above the plants.

Fermate as a dust: Some farmers prefer to use Fermate as a dust, because of the greater convenience and ease of application. A 15% Fermate dust may be purchased ready-mixed, or it may be mixed on the farm if directions are carefully followed and the material is thoroughly mixed.

Dust treatments, just as spray treatments, should begin before blue mold appears, and repeated twice each week or after each rain. If blue mold appears in the plant bed, increase the rate and make 3 applications instead of 2 that week. Approximately 30 lbs. of mixed dust should be sufficient to treat 100 square yards of plant bed for the season. About 1 pound of dust will be required for each application when the plants are small. Two to three pounds per 100 square yards will be needed later in the season. The cost will be about twice that of spraying.

Home Ec. Class Group Meeting

The Longwood Federation of Home Economics Classes held its annual rally at Appomattox High School yesterday. At this meeting there were representatives from all the Home Economics Chapters in this district. The meeting opened at 10:30 A. M., with Prof. John Peters and Supt. J. A. Burke giving welcome addresses.

As part of the program, Gwendolyn Shuford, president of the local chapter, introduced Elizabeth Mundy as a candidate for state office. She won over other nominees. This will enable her and her advisor, Miss Viola Carson, to have all expenses paid to the state convention to be held at Madison College, Harrisonburg, in June.

Picnic lunch was served by Miss Easly Shuford, Miss Viola Carson and the home economics students.

At a meeting in the County Library Tuesday, May 4, representatives from various civic clubs and organizations of the town of Appomattox met and formed a Recreational Council. The council expects to function as a clearing house for the recreational activities sponsored by each of the member organizations. It is hoped that this will result in a long-time coordinated recreational program that will meet the needs of the community.

Organizations who sent representatives: P.-T. A., Mrs. C. F. P. Crawley, Rev. Marshall Walker and Mrs. F. F. Carr; Lions Club: F. F. Carr; Masonic Lodge: R. B. Hudgins and Tom Richardson; Grammar School, Miss Flora B. Williams; High School, Prof. John Peters; School Board: J. A. Burke; Garden Club: Mrs. J. C. Caldwell and Mrs. William Burke; American Legion: Henry Pack, C. T. Moses, Jr. and E. D. Tegethoff; American Legion Auxiliary: Mrs. A. R. Harwood, Jr.; County Home Demonstration Clubs: Mrs. B. G. Anderson; Town Home Demonstration Club: Mrs. Ivey Holland and Mrs. S. S. Shouse; Commonwealth's Attorney George Abbitt.

Other members, not present at the meeting: J. C. Caldwell from the Lions Club; John Grimes from Monroe Lodge; Mrs. C. T. Moses, Jr., Legion Auxiliary; Tom Davidson, School Board; George Buchanan, Mayor;and Mrs. Ann Staples, U. D. C.

Mr. Verner, rural sociological, University of Virginia, met with the group and discussed the possibilities of a well-rounded recreational program not only for small children but teen-agers and adults as well.

Mr. Verner suggested that a survey be made to determine what type of recreational program was needed, what the age groups were, what the leadership possibilities were in the town of Appomattox. He will send the necessary forms and it is intended that this survey be made in the near future. The group was rather of the opinion that the immediate need was some program for the young children on the school grounds who at present have absolutely no facilities for organized play and no supervision except that given by the teachers.

Mrs. J. C. Caldwell was elected chairman; E. D. Tegethoff, vice-chairman; Mrs. F. F. Carr, secretary, and C. T. Moses, Jr., treasurer. The first regular meeting will be held at the County Library on May 11, at 8:00 P. M.

Announce 3 Farm Meetings

Farmers in Botetourt, Franklin, Roanoke and Bedford Counties in this area of Virginia have the advantages of breeding their milk cows artificially. Counties in eastern and northern Virginia also have artificial breeding service available. Appomattox, Campbell and Amherst County farmers are now signing up for artificial breeding service. According to County Agent, R. B. Hudgins, breeding of milk cows artificially offers many advantages. He announces that a series of three meetings will be held as follows to explain this program:

Concord High School, Tuesday, May 11, at 8:00 P. M.

Spout Spring School, Wednesday, May 12, 8:00 P. M.

Stonewall School, Thursday, May 13, at 8:00 P. M.

New Bond Drive

Judge Joel W. Flood announced today that Mr. Ben Moomaw, of the State U. S. Bond Sales staff, would be in Appomattox on next Thursday night to discuss with local citizens plans to intensify sale of Federal Security Bonds during a special drive now getting under way. Attention is called to a special bond advertisement in today's issue, Page 3, sponsored by the Bank of Appomattox.

Mr. J. T. Harvey

Funeral services for John Thomas Harvey, 74, son of the late William Clifton and Mildred W. Harvey, were conducted in Norfolk Sunday afternoon.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Birdie Smith Harvey, of Norfolk; and the following brothers and sisters: Jesse J. Harvey, William C. Harvey, Lytton Harvey, Lester B. Harvey and Mrs. William J. Walton.

Mr. Harvey was reared in Appomattox County, and moved to Norfolk forty years ago. He was a retired railroad man.

Red Sox Play Brookneal

After losing a close 3-0 game to Charlotte C. H. on Saturday the Appomattox Red Sox came back to win 6 to 3 in a game played here Sunday.

In Saturday's game "Bo" Stanley held Charlotte to only 4 hits and struck out 7 men, but with the aid of 3 errors and a wild pitch, Charlotte pushed across their 3 runs. The local team produced only 4 hits as Garrett held the Sox under control all the way, striking out 13 men. Dick Bass contributed two of the local team's hits, with Martin and Robertson getting one each.

Red Sox	000 000 000—0
Charlotte C. H.	100 000 011—3

In Sunday's game, each team collected 11 hits, with Hal Guill and Robertson serving as the winning battery, while Andrews and Vassas worked for Charlotte. Guill was credited with 9 strike-outs. Scott led the Red Sox attack, collecting 3 base hits in four trips; followed by Jimmie Dickerson with two in three.

Charlotte C. H.	100 020 000—3
Red Sox	021 102 000—6

This week-end, the Red Sox will play Brookneal here on the Lee Theatre diamond Saturday at 3:30, and Sunday the Sox will return the game at Brookneal.

EVERGREEN YWA

The Y. W. A.'s of Evergreen Baptist Church held their regular monthly meeting at the church on Friday night, with 12 members and three visitors present. A nice program was presented, after which games were played and refreshments served.

—Reporter, Elnora Glover.

H. C. Pulliam, owner and operator of the local telephone exchange, announced today that a corporation to be known as The Appomattox Telephone Company would be formed to take over and operate this exchange, on and after June 1. Present plans call for changing the system to one which will provide modern dial service. To determine as nearly as possible the telephone requirements of Appomattox, a house to house canvass will be made and each present subscriber, and those who wish to apply for service on the new system, will be asked to sign an application for the class of service they want. Rates proposed for the new service range from $2.25 to $3.25 per month for residence telephones and from $3.25 to $4.25 for business telephones, depending on the class of service.

The present wires and cables will be repaired, replaced and extended where necessary, in preparation for the dial equipment. It is expected that much of this work will be completed this summer.

Mr. Pulliam announced that K. E. Schuler, of Farmville, Va., will manage the new corporation and supervise the work of rebuilding, converting and operating the proposed new dial exchange. Mr. Schuler has had over 15 years of experience in the telephone business and is presently District Manager in charge of 14 exchanges for the Virginia Telephone and Telegraph Company.
